

ANG

DESCRIPTION

The ang Plux sensor is a dual axis goniometer that allows the monitorization of angles in two different plans during movements.

APPLICATIONS

This sensor allows real time angle variation analysis in a two dimensional space during the activity of the user. One possible application is in postural evaluation.